STRUGGLE FOR SNOOK'S LIFE BEGINS TODAY

Possibility of Three Trials For Confessed Slayer Seen On Insanity Plea.

COLUMBUS, O., July 16. (INS) —The legal battle in the attempt to save Dr. James Howard Snook from the electric chair for the first degree murder of Miss Theora K. Hix, 24, his sweetheart, is expected to be a long and bitter one, probably lasting more than six or eight weeks.

Formal notice is to be served on Judge Henry L. Scarlett by defense attorneys requesting a sanity hearing for the man who has admitted that he jabbed a knife into the jugular vein of the Ohio State university co-ed after smashing her skull with 17 blows from a ball-pein hammer.

With the request for the sanity hearing, not only comes the possibility of two hearings before the man stands trial, but also the actuality that the first degree murder trial cannot get under way next Monday morning, as scheduled.

Besides serving formal notice, the defense lawyers may also file the actual petition itself.

The law will take its first step when Judge Scarlett appoints from one to three alienists to pass on the mental condition of the deposed university instructor, who, at one time, was the best rapid-fire pistol shot in the world.

JURY IS NEEDED
A jury, called a petit one in legal parlance, will then be impaneled and the alienists will make their report to this deliberating body.

Should the petit jury find that Dr. Snook was insane when he brutally slew Miss Hix on the night of June 13, the man would be allowed a hearing in probate court.

If the second hearing developed that he is sane now, more than a month after the crime, he would be allowed to walk from the Franklin-co jail, where he is being held without bond, a free man.

If, however, the second hearing resulted in the declaration that Dr. Snook is still insane, the confessed killer would be committed to the Lima State hospital for the criminally insane.

SECOND TRIAL POSSIBLE
Should the petit jury find him sane, defense attorneys would have the right to ask for another hearing to determine whether he is sane now.

If the latter hearing should find that he is insane now, he would be sent to Lima, but if he should be found to be sane both at the time of killing and now, he would be forced to stand trial on first degree murder charges.

Even in face of the previous "sane" findings, an insanity plea would be allowed at the trial.

SAME PLEA AGAIN
Then there would be the possibility of the jury at the actual murder trial returning a verdict of "not guilty on the sole grounds of insanity." Similar cases, such as the famous George Remus sensation, have been written into the criminal annals of the Buckeye.

The legal procedure described in the foregoing is known as Ohio's new insanity law which was explained to International News Service by County Prosecutor John J. Chester Jr. and the defense attorneys, who are E. O. Ricketts, John F. Seidel, both of Columbus, and M. C. Seyfert, Circleville.

TRAIN IS WRECKED IN CAPITAL CITY

COLUMBUS, O., July 16 — (INS) —Twenty-two freight cars were derailed and 13 of them were destroyed when a Toledo-Columbus train of the Hocking Valley railroad plunged through an open switch on the outskirts of this city today.

Cars were telescoped and piled high when the train, running at a speed of between 35 and 40 miles an hour, struck the switch which was believed to have been dragged open by a bar hanging from a coupling. More than 100 feet of track was torn up.

No injuries were reported though railroad attaches at Marion had reported to local officials that several hoboes were "riding the bars."

Almost Turned the Trick, But—

According to the police, Paul D. Schooler, hands before face, confessed at Annapolis, Md., to substituting for Henry Sherwin Rupp, left, of Long Beach, Cal., in examinations for U. S. Naval Academy. Rupp had passed the mental tests, but was found to be color blind and unable to pass the physical. He was allowed to be re-examined and at this time is said to have hired Schooler to take the exam for him. The shift was detected when Schooler could not answer some intimate family questions and their arraignment on charges of attempt to defraud the government followed.

Record Sales and Purchases Abroad Predicted on Six Months' Figures

Quality of American Merchandise Creating Market in Foreign Lands.

WASHINGTON, July 16 — Six months' figures of America's foreign trade issued by the department of commerce led officials today to predict that sales and purchases abroad would amount to possibly $10,000,000,000, a record for normal years.

From the record piled up in the first half of the year exports were expected to exceed $5,529,000,000 and imports $4,400,000,000. Exports for the year probably will exceed those of 1928 by more than $400,000,000, while imports will be $300,000,000 greater, judging from figures already compiled.

TARIFF UNCERTAIN
Some uncertainty existed, however, because of the possibility of higher tariff rates. This would operate in two years for a possible decrease of imports and exports, first, through curtailment of American purchases abroad, and secondly by retaliatory measures by foreign governments and buyers, that would decrease American sales in other markets.

Officials felt that so far this year business prosperity has much to owe to the unusual market found for American products abroad. Mass production of the highly manufactured group have permitted sufficiently low prices, considering American qualities, to meet the competition of the cheaper foreign made goods.

QUALITY IS REASON
Quality has been the chief selling point of American goods abroad. This has been true in the automobile group where foreign sales have been unprecedented in the last 18 months, as well as in electrical goods, radio apparatus, machinery and many other lines.

Analysis of the trade of the first half-year was expected to show that a big gain in trade was accounted for principally in manufactured commodities. Some declines may have been shown in the raw material group. Imports showed general gains it was believed, since American

NEW 'PHONE BOOKS

The Citizen's Telephone Co. is now busy making out new telephone directories. These directories are very similar to the old ones. They will probably reach the public Saturday. The directories were printed by Fitzpatrick's Printery.

Convict Killed In Freedom Try At Prison Farm

LONDON, O., July 16 — A prisoner of the Ohio State Penitentiary, who had been transferred to the London prison farm here, was shot and killed this afternoon when he attempted to escape.

The dead convict is Ira LeGrand, 33, Pike-co., who was serving a two to 20 year term on a statutory charge.

LeGrand made the attempted break about 1:45 o'clock, but was overtaken on a farm in Madison-co about an hour later.

The prisoner, at bay, made a lunge at guard A. J. Buzzard who dodged and then shot the man. The bullet entered LeGrand's lung and shoulder. He died almost instantly. The convict was working with a gang on the farm when he dropped his tools and made his break for liberty.

BUSINESS HAS BIG ADVANCE

Pickaway-Co Livestock Co-op Almost Doubles Business In Last June.

Pickaway-co livestock farmers through their cooperative Association have practically doubled the business of their organization over July, 1928, during June, 1929, when 65 floors of livestock were marketed cooperatively. This business represented 3141 hogs, 279 finished cattle, 133 veal calves, 35 lambs and 53 head of feeder cattle. This volume represented a market value of $107,741.10. In June of 1928 the Pickaway Livestock Co-operative handled 39 floors of livestock with a market value of $46,052.63.

Cooperative livestock marketing, market information, keeping the producer better informed as to when and how he should market, and the guaranteed accounts which are provided through the farmers cooperative marketing organization, are the chief factors contributing to this successful program.

The livestock producer today has available through his own organization each service connected with the merchandizing of each class of livestock which he may produce. This producer service is now a dominant factor on all the leading terminal markets throughout the corn belt and the advantages accruing through the cooperative service are paid back to the livestock farmers.

To the hog men and cattle feeders who use economic methods in production of both hogs and finished cattle, prospects for future market returns are very favorable.

PROGRAM AT CAMP FIRE IS TONIGHT

Anyone interested in 4-H club work, which is a primary project with the Farm Bureau, is invited to attend the Camp Fire program being held Tuesday evening in Scott Carpenter woods east of Darbyville, and on Wednesday evening in John May's woods on the Ringgold-pk. west of Ringgold. The programs begin at 2 o'clock and everyone will enjoy the picnic supper together at 6 o'clock. The suggested menu: Ham or any meat sandwiches on whole wheat bread cold salad or potato salad; baked beans, pickles or olives, cake or cookies, mixed fruit and lemonade.

The evenings will be spent around the Camp Fire with the programs consisting of songs, Indian lore, stunts and a motion picture.

PLANE IN ENGINE TEST UP 72 HOURS

LAMBERT FLYING FIELD, ST. LOUIS, July 16. (INS) — With the St. Louis Robin, the Curtiss-Robin monoplane, trying out a challenger air-cooled engine, in the air nearly 73 hours at 6 o'clock this morning the second plane, "The Missouri Robin" was in readiness to take off. Both planes are to remain in the air as long as possible in order that the company manufacturing them may obtain data which will help to determine the durability of the air-cooled challenger motors.

SENATOR KING BLAMES REDS FOR TROUBLE

Believes War Doubtful—Too Much Russian Propaganda, He Declares.

WASHINGTON, July 16 — "The situation is tense, but I can scarcely believe that it will eventuate in war," Senator King (D) of Utah said today in summing up the Russian-Chinese controversy arising upon seizure by China of the Russian owned Chinese-Eastern railway.

King, a student of International affairs, has given considerable attention to conditions in the far east, and has spent nearly a year in Russia. He outlined to International News Service his views on the prevailing crisis.

He said that in spite of its ultimatum demanding that China yield control of the Chinese-Eastern railway, the Russian government would hesitate before taking up arms and China, too, would pause and seek a Pacific solution to the controversy.

CONDEMNNS RUSSIA

While conceding the Chinese government might have gone a step too far, King condemned the propagandistic policies he said Soviet Russia supported in an effort to "Sovietize" China. He charged the new Soviet Russia was just as imperialistic as was the Russia under the Czarist regime.

"Notwithstanding the professions of the Bolsheviks of a desire for world peace and for autonomy for all political sub-divisions," he said, "The Soviet government is as imperialistic, has as great a lust for territorial possessions, as had the Czarist regime. China for many years has been apprehensive of Russia and of her territorial designs and economic purposes. Russia has forced a policy which gave her an interest in the so-called Chinese railway. The new nationalistic spirit in China was bound to bring some conflict, perhaps not military, between Russia and China."

SOVIET TO BLAME

"Perhaps Russia has a technical legal interest in the railroad and in property interests logically and rightfully connected therewith, and it may be that the Chinese government has gone too far in its recent activities. It is true, however, that the Bolsheviks have introduced into Manchuria active propaganda and have sought to increase their influence and power over Manchuria in every possible way."

"Undoubtedly the nationalistic aspirations of the Chinese and Bolsheviks are in conflict and if the Bolsheviks shall persist in their efforts to sovietize Manchuria or any parts of China, serious conflicts will result."

DISTILLERIES WILL REOPEN

Government To Replenish Nation's Medicinal Liqueur Supply, Now Low.

WASHINGTON, July 16 — The nation's whiskey supply is getting so alarmingly low that the government is about to authorize six prewar distilleries to reopen to manufacture it legally—for medicinal purposes.

Formal announcement of the names of the distilleries is expected to be made within the next few weeks. Commissioner Doran of the prohibition unit is now conducting a survey of the medicinal liquor on hand. On its completion he will issue the permits for the distilleries to reopen permanently. It is understood they will be allowed to distill a total of approximately 2,000,000 gallons annually.

Government experts estimate roughly that there are about 8,000,000 gallons of medicinal spirits on hand now, sufficient for five years normal consumption on the basis of about 1,500,000 consumed annually under physician's prescriptions.

The present estimate is based on 10,000,000 gallons of brandy in 1928, but reports of leakages and evaporations have caused prohibition officials to wonder if the supply were not getting alarmingly low.

Liquor to be fit for medicinal use, according to the best authorities, must be four years old.

Chicago Taxi Heiress Under Arrest

A blood transfusion was necessary in efforts to save the life of Dorothy Wilson, inset, Chicago society girl, who was badly injured in an auto accident with Miss Helen Hertz's car. Helen Hertz, above, at the wheel of her car, daughter of John Hertz, owner of Reigh Count and many millions, is being held by the Chicago police. Police say that Miss Hertz ran by a stoplight, ramming the Wilson car, wrecking both autos. In case Miss Wilson dies, Miss Hertz will be held on charges of manslaughter, says Chief Freeman.

Living Beyond Means, Not Dry Law, Cause of Crime, Gov. Hammill Says

Chief Executive of Iowa Declares Prohibition Only Contributing Factor.

GROTON, CONN., July 16 — (INS) — Crime in the United States was the dominant theme discussed by governors from all parts of the nation attending the 21st conference of governors which opened a three day session at the Hotel Grosvenor here today.

"The chief cause of crime in the country is the inclination on the part of many people to live beyond their means," Governor John Hammill, of Iowa, told International News Service in an interview this morning as the conference was called to order. "They are consumed by a mad desire for pleasures and luxuries and are lacking in the fundamental industry and ability to acquire them. They want these luxuries at any cost."

Prohibition is a contributing factor but not the controlling cause of crime, in the opinion of Governor Hammill. He said the American people should reach the cause of crime, not the symptom, and treat that. He felt certain the commission of crime could be controlled and reduced by vigorous enforcement of all laws.

ENFORCE ALL LAWS

"I believe all laws should be strictly enforced, including the prohibition law," said Governor Hammill. "I do not believe stress should be laid on any particular law. If we make a law we should enforce it. The prohibition law can be enforced if we employ honest, courageous men who are selected for their ability to do the job and not because of political considerations."

"It is an indictment of the integrity of the American people to say the prohibition law cannot be enforced. I think the states should do all in their power to assist the federal government in enforcing it. The law is plain enough on that point. It says there should be cooperation between the states and the federal government in enforcing prohibition."

Governor John H. Trumbull of Connecticut formally welcomed the governors at the opening session this morning.

BLAMES HUMAN NATURE

New York's chief executive, Governor Franklin D. Roosevelt, was on the program for a speech on crime. Asked if he would stress the importance of prohibition in its relation to crime, Governor Roosevelt said:

"No I will not stress prohibition because I do not feel prohibition is the controlling factor in crime."

He replied: "Human nature."

Fathers and mothers, more than the "younger generation" were blamed for conditions that lead to crime by Governor O. Max Gardner of North Carolina, said in an address today before the conference of governors.

PARENTS RESPONSIBLE

"If father and mother do not know how to behave, how is it possible to expect that their children shall behave better?" asked Governor Gardner. "If father and mother have lost all ethical conceptions, why should we expect that their children adhere to moral and ethical principles? If family relationships are to be increasingly dominated by nothing more than the desire for self-gratification and material gain, is it not reasonable to expect that honorable traditions will be involved?"

"When you come to think of it, what is there left for modern youth to reverence? Our central interpretation of life is dominated by a soulless materialism and in the everlasting whirl of things we have lost our sense of values."

POINCARÉ ENDS PLEA ON DEBT

Urges French Chamber of Deputies To Ratify Franco-American Pact.

PARIS, July 16 — Premier Raymond Poincaré today ended his impassioned plea to the chamber of deputies for ratification of the Mollath-Berenger (Franco-American) war debt agreement without any reservations that would be offensive to the United States.

General debate upon the ratification bill began later.

Although the foreign affairs committee and the finance committee voted to incorporate in a Franco-American war debt accord reservations making payments contingent upon France's receipt of reparations payments from Germany, supporters of the premier forecast that he would win a victory in the chamber with a small majority.

The premier terminated his ratification plea at 11:30 o'clock after speaking for 12 hours during four sessions of the chamber.

President Hoover in one of his speeches plainly indicated that since the American people contributed to the French loans we should consider the debt sacred, declared Premier Poincaré.

BOTH NATIONS MOBILIZE FOR BORDER FIGHT

First Frontier Clash Reported — Moscow Seething With Martial Fever.

LONDON, July 16 — Warlike preparations by both China and Soviet Russia were reported from the far east this afternoon.

It is estimated that about 60,000 Chinese soldiers are being massed upon the border of Soviet Russia, according to advices to evening newspapers from Peking, Shanghai and Tokio.

Soviet troops are reported to be throwing up fortifications and digging trenches on their side of the Manchurian frontier.

Unconfirmed press advices said that the Soviet forces near Manchurian were "digging in." About 10,000 Chinese troops are massed on the Manchurian side of the line, opposite the red soldiers.

(Manchuria, or Manchuria, lies on the Chinese eastern railway, 500 miles northwest of Harbin. It is known as the gateway to Siberia.)

FIRST CLASH REPORTED

PEIPING, (Peking), July 16 — The first clash between Soviet troops and Chinese forces in the conflict over seizure of the Chinese eastern railway was reported today from Harbin.

An unconfirmed rumor stated that red troops crossed the Black river into Chinese territory, sinking Chinese vessels by heavy fire near Blagoveshchensk.

The reports gave no indication of loss of life.

Official circles here had no confirmation of the rumor, and in view of the prevailing impression in authoritative quarters that actual armed conflict is most unlikely in spite of the seeming gravity of the situation, the report must be accepted with reserve.

Blagoveshchensk is in Siberia, about ten miles northeast of the Manchurian frontier.

MOSCOW IN WAR FEVER

MOSCOW, July 16 — War fever is spreading throughout Soviet Russia like wildfire.

Thousands of laborers and office employees, headed by brass bands, made another anti-Chinese demonstration this afternoon, following an earlier hostile display made by young uniformed communists before the Chinese legation.

The paraders this afternoon marched through the principal streets shouting protests against the arrest of Russians by the Chinese and singing the international.

The youthful communists, wearing gas masks and carrying sticks, paraded back and forth before the Chinese legation. Then they tore off their masks and shouted greetings to the Chinese Communist party and demands that the "Chinese proletariat overthrow the militaristic leaders."

The Chinese charge d'affaires officially informed the foreign office that the Soviet ultimatum was dispatched to Nanking at 1:30 a. m. yesterday. Under these circumstances it will not expire until Thursday morning as it gave the Chinese Nationalists three days to reply.

Scores of telegrams announcing the readiness of the Red army for action are pouring in upon Gen. Voroshiloff, commander of defense and commander in chief, from commanders of army corps throughout the union.

Newspapers from Peiping, Shanghai and Tokio.

FERTILIZER MELON CUT FOR PATRONS

The fertilizer patronage dividend melon was sliced early this month, and checks totalling $23,195.59 were mailed to those who purchased fertilizer cooperatively from the Ohio Farm Bureau Service Co. this spring.

This is $18,261.45 more than the dividend amounted to last year, according to a statement received from the home office by officials of the Pickaway County Farm Bureau. This spring's volume of fertilizer sold was 24,435 tons as compared with 23,937 tons last spring.

These counties led in the amount of patronage dividends received: Highland, $3,009.36; Lorain, $2,655.90; Columbus, $2,469.97; Stark, $2,234.03; Mahoning, $2,067.30; Portage, $2,061.07.

COLUMBUS, O., July 16. (INS.)—The legal battle in the attempt to save Dr. James Howard Snook from the electric chair for the first degree murder of Miss Theora K. Hix, 24, his sweetheart-paramour, is to begin here today.

is expected to be a long drawn-out and bitterly contested affair, probably lasting more than six or eight weeks.

Formal notice is to be served on Judge Henry L. Scarlett by defense attorneys requesting a sanity hearing for the man who has admitted that he jabbed a knife into the jugular vein of the Ohio State university co-ed after smashing her skull with 17 blows from a ball-pen hammer.

SECOND TRIAL POSSIBLE.
Should the petit jury find him sane, defense attorneys would have the right to ask for another hearing to determine whether he is sane now.

If the latter hearing should find that he is insane now, he would be sent to Lima, but if he should be found to be sane both at the time of killing and now, he would be forced to stand trial on first degree murder charges.

Even in face of the previous "sane" findings, an insanity plea would be allowed at the trial.

SAME PLEA AGAIN.
Then there would be the possibility of the jury at the actual murder trial returning a verdict of "not guilty on the sole grounds of insanity." Similar cases, such as the famous George Remus sensation, have been written into the criminal annals of the Buckeye state.

The legal procedure described in the foregoing is known as Ohio's new insanity law which was explained to International News Service by County Prosecutor John J. Chester Jr., and the defense attorneys, who are E. O. Ricketts, John F. Seidel, both of Columbus, and M. C. Seyfert, Circleville.

Record Sales and Purchases Abroad Predicted on Six Months' Figures

Quality of American Merchandise Creating Market In Foreign Lands.

WASHINGTON, July 16.—Six months' figures of America's foreign trade issued by the department of commerce led officials today to predict that sales and purchases abroad would amount to possibly $10,000,000,000, a record for normal years.

From the record piled up in the first half of the year exports were expected to exceed $5,529,000,000 and imports $4,400,000,000. Exports for the year probably will exceed those of 1928 by more than $400,000,000, while imports will be $300,000,000 greater, judging from figures already compiled.

Living Beyond Means, Not Dry Law, Cause of Crime, Gov. Hammill Says

Chief Executive of Iowa Declares Prohibition Only Contributing Factor.

GROTON, CONN., July 16.—(INS.)—Crime in the United States was the dominant theme discussed by governors from all parts of the nation attending the 21st conference of governors which opened a three day session at the Hotel Griswold here today.

"The chief cause of crime in the country is the inclination on the part of many people to live beyond their means," Governor John Hammill, of Iowa, told International News Service in an interview this morning as the conference was called to order. "They are consumed by a mad desire for pleasures and luxuries and are lacking in the fundamental industry and ability to acquire them. They want these luxuries at any cost."

Prohibition is a contributing factor but not the controlling cause of crime, in the opinion of Governor Hammill. He said the American people should reach the cause of crime, not the symptom, and treat that. He felt certain the commission of crime could be controlled and reduced by vigorous enforcement of all laws.

"I believe all laws should be strictly enforced, including the prohibition law," said Governor Hammill. "I do not believe stress should be laid on any particular law. If we make a law we should enforce it. The prohibition law can be enforced if we employ honest, courageous men who are selected for their ability to do the job and not because of political considerations."

"It is an indictment of the integrity of the American people to say the prohibition law cannot be enforced. I think the states should do all in their power to assist the federal government in enforcing it. The law is plain enough on that point. It says there should be co-operation between the states and federal government in enforcing prohibition."

Governor John H. Trumbull of Connecticut formally welcomed the governors at the opening session this morning.

BLAMES HUMAN NATURE.
New York's chief, executive Governor Franklin D. Roosevelt, was on the program for a speech on crime. Asked if he would stress the importance of prohibition in its relation to crime, Governor Roosevelt said: "No, I will not stress prohibition because I do not feel prohibition is the controlling factor in crime." Asked what the controlling fac-

BOTH NATIONS MOBILIZE FOR BORDER FIGHT

First Frontier Clash Reported—Moscow Seething With Martial Fever.

LONDON, July 16.—Warlike preparations by both China and Soviet Russia were reported from the far east this afternoon.

It is estimated that about 60,000 Chinese soldiers are being massed upon the border of Soviet Russia, according to advices to evening newspapers from Peking, Shanghai and Tokio.

Soviet troops are reported to be throwing up fortifications and digging trenches on their side of the Manchurian frontier.

(Manchuli, or Manchuria, lies on the Chinese eastern railway, 500 miles northwest of Harbin. It is known as the gateway to Siberia.)

FIRST CLASH REPORTED

PEIPING, (Peking), July 16.—The first clash between Soviet troops and Chinese forces in the conflict over seizure of the Chinese eastern railway was reported today from Harbin.

An unconfirmed rumor stated that red troops crossed the Black river into Chinese territory, sinking Chinese vessels by heavy fire near Blagoveshchensk.

The reports gave no indication of loss of life.

Official circles here had no confirmation of the rumor, and in view of the prevailing impression in authoritative quarters that actual armed conflict is most unlikely in spite of the seeming gravity of the situation, the report must be accepted with reserve.

Blagoveshchensk is in Siberia, about ten miles northeast of the Manchurian frontier.

MOSCOW IN WAR FEVER

MOSCOW, July 16.—War fever is spreading throughout Soviet Russia like wildfire.

Thousands of laborers and office employees, headed by brass bands, made another anti-Chinese demonstration this afternoon, following an earlier hostile display made by young uniformed communists before the Chinese legation.

The paraders this afternoon marched through the principal streets shouting protests against the arrest of Russians by the Chinese and singing the international.

The youthful communists, wearing gas masks and carrying rifles, paraded back and forth before the Chinese legation. Then they tore off their masks and shouted greetings to the Chinese Communist party and demands that the "Chinese proletariat overthrow the militaristic leaders."

The Chinese charge d'affaires officially informed the foreign office that the Soviets' ultimatum was dispatched to Nanking at 1:30 a. m. yesterday. Under these circumstances it will not expire until Thursday morning as it gave the Chinese Nationalists three days to reply.

Scores of telegrams announcing "the readiness of the Red army for action" are pouring in upon Gen. Voroshiloff, commissar of defence and commander in chief, from commanders of army corps throughout the union.

newspapers from Peiping, Shanghai and Tokio.

FERTILIZER MELON CUT FOR PATRONS

The fertilizer patronage dividend melon was sliced early this month, and checks totalling $83,195.59 were mailed to those who purchased fertilizer cooperatively from the Ohio Farm Bureau Service Co. this spring.

This is $16,261.45 more than the dividend amounted to last year, according to a statement received from the home office by officials of the Pickaway County Farm Bureau. This spring's volume of fertilizer sold was 28,635 tons as compared with 25,087 tons last spring.

These counties led in the amount of patronage dividends received: Highland, $3,009.36; Lorain, $2,955.90; Columbiana $2,469.97; Stark $2,284.03; Mahoning, $2,087.39; Portage, $2,061.07.

SCORES MONDAY
Circleville Merchants 12; Lutheran Brotherhood, 1.
Motor Transport, 12; Pettit
Tires, 10.

By defeating the Pettit Tires
Monday the Motor Transports advanced to fifth place in the Recreation league. This game was exciting throughout the whole period. At the end of nine innings the score was 10 to 10 and again
two more innings had to be played.
In the eleventh inning the Transports were able to get two runs through an error of Wilkinson.
This won the game. The Wallace brothers did extraordinary work at batting. Carl Wallace credited himself with a home run. Stevens played a very good game for the Transport team.

MERCHANTS WIN
The Merchants were credited with another victory Monday evening when they defeated the Lutheran Brotherhood. The Merchants advanced into a tie with Pettit Tires for sixth place, while the Lutherans slip into the cellar.
Smith played a good game for the Merchants and Kline also played a good game for the Brotherhood.

Crum, pitching for the Merchants, had three strikeouts while Miller pitched good ball for the Brotherhood.

BABE RUTH IS ADVANCING IN CIRCUIT RACE

Twentieth Homer Monday Enables Yankees To Defeat
Tigers, 7 To 6.

NEW YORK, July 16.—The boys who were all for dethroning Babe Ruth as home run king last month are eating considerable crow today, for present indications are that the master mauler again will be leading the circuit clouters of both leagues when the final totals are posted.

After being laid up and forced to swallow nasty medicine for the first three weeks of June, Ruth today has only two homers less than Buster Gehrig, the American league leader. He has delivered 10 four-baggers in the last four weeks and probably would be leading the parade by a comfortable margin today if growing pains had not forced him to take a siesta.

BABE WINS GAME

The Babe's clouts have been particularly valuable to the Yankees because of their timeliness.
His No. 20, contributed in the ninth inning of the game with Detroit yesterday, gave the champions a dramatic 7 to 6 victory.
The ball struck the center field wall and the portly slugger had to sprint all the way around the paths for the first time this season.

New York cut the Athletics' lead to eight games, as the Macks lost the first game of a double bill to Cleveland, 8 to 5, with the rookie Wes Ferrell opposing them.
George Earnshaw scalped the Indians in the nightcap, 4 to 0.

If Ruth does lose his home run diadem his successor may be Chuck Klein, Philly phenom, who smacked his 24th, 25th and 26th homers yesterday and became one up on Mel Ott of the Giants in the National league home run derby. Despite Klein's heroic feats, the Phils dropped both ends of a double header to the Cubs, 9 to 6 and 7 to 6.

CUBS ADVANCE

The Cubs advanced to within 2½ games of the Pirates, who eked out a 5 to 4 decision over the Braves when the once peerless George Sisler ingloriously muffed a pop fly in the 11th inning.

Ray Kolp, Cincinnati hurler who recently dropped a disputed decision to Hack Wilson, was outpointed by Lefty Clark of Brooklyn, 4 to 2. Clark yielded only four hits.

Bunching hits in the third and fifth frames, the Gians showed the Cardinals. Scott and Sherdel pitched.

The St. Louis Browns massacred the Red Sox, 10 to 3, and young Ed Walsh of the White Sox beat Washington, 4 to 2.

Amazon's Wide Mouth

The width of the mouth of the Caboto Notre to Puno, Pailloca, a distance of 207 miles. This, how-the Para river—40 miles wide—which should be deducted, as this stream is merely the lower stretch of the Tapanitis.

It also includes the ocean front-large as the entire kingdom of Denmark, lying in the mouth of the Amazon. The actual width of the principal mouth is about 50 miles.

Hoffman Challenges Babson's Attack On Motion Pictures; Scientist Finds Screen Great Educational Influence

Dr. Frederick L. Hoffman, whose studies of homicide and of general criminal tendencies are known throughout the United States, has taken sharp exception to the use of his name in an attack upon motion pictures made recently by Roger W. Babson, business statistician.

Dr. Hoffman believes that "production care within the industry effectively excludes pernicious illustrations of human conduct" and that "the good that the motion picture has done as an educational factor is enormous." From his home in Wellesley, Massachusetts, Dr. Hoffman issued the following statement:

"On my return from an air trip to the West Indies, I regret to find an accumulation of letters and newspaper clippings suggestive of profound misunderstanding on the part of the public due to the use of my name made by Mr. Roger W. Babson in connection with an attack upon the motion picture industry. Mr. Babson has used my homicide statistics to develop the idea that the motion picture is the primary cause of the increase in homicide in this country during recent years.

"I myself have made no such statement and nothing contained in my figures could be construed to justify such a conclusion. As a matter of fact, my data would justify the opposite inference in that homicides are more common in sections of the country, particularly in the south, in which the proportion of representation of motion pictures is measurably less than in the north and west.

"I have, therefore, felt it advisable to make the following statement of facts:

"1. I have no connection whatsoever with Mr. Babson's statistical organization.

"2. A continuous study of homicides over a long period of years has failed to develop even a casual connection of the motion picture to violent crime.

"3. It goes without saying that certain pictures may possibly aid in the development of a criminal instinct, but in contrast to this the good that the motion picture has done as an educational factor is enormous.

"Motion pictures afford the cheapest and most effective means of relaxation to vast numbers of people who would otherwise be in idleness both as regards thought and time. To me, as a scientific student of social conditions and educational progress, the motion picture is one of the most valuable if not the most valuable and effective method yet developed of visualizing to the public matters of the highest importance which would otherwise come to naught.

"Production care within the industry effectively excludes pernicious illustrations of human conduct so that it is only by indirect inference that wrongful conclusions can be drawn. Every industry or effort is liable to abuse but, considering the vast amount of good done by the motion picture, I feel that the amount of harm and its relation to homicidal tendencies may safely be considered negligible.

"In view of the foregoing I consider the conclusion drawn by Mr. Babson from my statistics on homicidal deaths wholly inapplicable to the problem under consideration."

BOARDER AND HUSBAND DEAD

Woman Wounded When Lover Shot; Her Spouse and Ends His Own Life.

PITTSBURGH, July 16 The husband who returned home in Duquesne to find his wife eloping with the boarder was dead today. The wife was dying in McKeesport hospital, and the boarder, who shot them, had committed suicide, police said.

The domestic tragedy occurred late last night when Frank Laskowicz, 35, the husband, returned home and found the couple making preparations to leave him. He questioned Nick Turvovich, 30, the boarder, and Ellen Laskowicz, 30, his wife, and learned that they planned to elope.

An argument followed and Turvovich ran to his room procured a revolver and ordered the husband to leave the house. Police learned when the husband refused to leave, police said, the boarder opened fire and the husband fell to the floor with four bullet wounds in his body. The wife was wounded during the shooting, according to officials.

Police found the body of the boarder, who had committed suicide, in a vacant room on the third floor.

COSTS FARMER 50 PCT. MORE TO LIVE

It costs the farmer about 50 per cent more to live now than it did 16 years ago, according to figures received at the headquarters of the Pickaway County Farm Bureau, while the city worker pays 70 per cent more. The figures, compiled by the National Bureau of Economic Research, were given in a statement by the Research Department of the Ohio Farm Bureau Corporation.

The statement also indicated that the increase in the cost of living was greater in the case of persons of large income than with those of small income. The cost of living peak was reached in 1925-26, and there has been a downward trend since, the statement says.

MRS. ROSA SHANE.

Mrs. Rosa Shane, 725 Gallagher street, Springfield, Ohio, is another well known resident of this vicinity to come out with a statement praising the Hoyt's Compound.

"Had gotten to be a great victim of stomach trouble for the past 20 years," said Mrs. Shane. "My stomach was in such a bad condition that I could hardly eat anything, as it would sour and ferment inside of me and turn into gas which would swell and beat me up into a terrible condition. My bowel organs had gotten so sluggish that it seemed that they had stopped all their action. I was continually taking some kind of physic to relieve them. Was terribly nervous and many days could hardly do my work because of this affliction. I think I tried about every medicine that there is but it was just money thrown away as nothing ever helped and I had just about given up all hopes of ever getting better when I began to read as much about the Hoyt's Compound and heard people praising it that I decided to try it myself. From the FIRST I could feel a great change taking place in me so I kept on with it and it has worked all of the stomach trouble out of me and I am in better health than I have been in several years. I now rest at night and feel fine of a morning. In fact my whole system is better and I can work hard all day without becoming tired and without I want to urge anyone who is in all these conditions to get the great medicine and give it a trial."

Hoyt's Compound is sold at Wilder's Drug Store, Circleville. Also sold by leading druggists everywhere.—Adv.

Sacred Stone of Erin Lodged in Cathedral

The ancient Clough stone from which Clougher, Ireland, is said to have derived its name, has with the consent of the bishop of Clougher been placed in the vestibule of St. Macartan's cathedral, to preserve it from the weather. The Clough stone is said to have been one of the three sacred stones of Erin the others being the Lia Fail, or Stone of Destiny, which rests under the coronation chair in Westminster abbey, and the Crom Cruich, which is supposed to have bowed before St. Patrick. This famous stone, which has hitherto rested against the north wall of the cathedral, was visited at one time by Concober MacVessa, high king of Ulster. Canon Maguire, who wrote a commentary on the register of Clougher in 1490, states: "This sacred stone was preserved on the right of the entrance into the church, and traces of the gold with which it has been covered by the worshippers of the idol Cromed Celts'acht are still visible."

A NATION OF READERS

Some self-confessed intellectuals question the high plane of the American's taste for reading matter but they can not deny that the American reads more than the other peoples of the world. Government statistics disclose that there are 20,091 newspapers in the United States and that the country's book business last year was $130,000,000. The nation consumed 10,000,000 tons of paper last year. In the face of these amazing figures none can complain that Americans do not read enough. If we don't all read classical literature all of the time we at least read and that is a healthful sign. A comparison of paper consumption reveals that more paper is required for the United States than for all of the rest of the world and that this country's consumption per capita is more than twice as great as that of the next largest user of paper.

The population of the United States has not kept pace with the paper consumption since 1899. Some idea of the growing demand for paper and reading matter is supplied by data showing an increase of four hundred per cent in paper consumption since 1899.

Invariably when the subject of paper consumption is brought up for discussion someone predicts that unless there is immediate curtailment the country's timber source for paper will be exhausted within the current century. In answer to these alarmists a recent federal bulletin announces that America's lumber industry has become so vast that its waste is adequate for the manufacture of the country's entire paper supply. Paper can no longer be charged with the destruction of America's majestic forests.

Readers and nature lovers can both rejoice in the news that the country is doing more reading and restoring more timber than ever in its history.

"HUMANIZING" THE GREAT

Why this surge of iconoclasm among the young historians and biographers?

For a generation and longer literary men dedicated their genius and labors to making ideals of public men and women. Then it was deemed a sacred duty, rather than a sin, to invent little "white lies" and other myths tending to exalt their subjects, often undeservedly. Suddenly, the pendulum swung back creating the present wave of iconoclasm and stark realism. The creed of this new school seems to be "tell the whole truth, and more if the truth isn't scandalous enough." For the sake of realism as much mythology is now being written as once was penned for the sake of idealism. But there is a reason for all this.

Just to venture a guess, based on human nature, one would say there has been a revolution, a revolt of the masses, pandered to but not incited by the literati. The common people, the general run of human beings, have tired of having the dead given a superhuman post-mortem polish and then pointed out to them as demigods impossible of emulation by poor, erring mortals. Idealism, overdone, defeats its own purpose. This materialistic and scientific age is suspicious of the super-natural even in history.

Too much moralizing makes the adolescent immoral, and in their interest in history the American people are said to be adolescent. Popular heroes to remain so in the eyes of this generation must be re-humanized, and that is what the new historians are doing, whether beyond the realm of truth remains to be seen.

Written Centuries Ago

"Though the mills of God grind slowly, yet they grind exceeding small; Though with patience He stands waiting, with exactness grinds he all," was written by Friedrich von Logau, who lived from 1604 to 1665. He was one of the most highly esteemed epigrammatists and satirists of his day.

STILL REIGNING

Daphne by HAZEL LIVINGSTON

CHAPTER LVIII.

DAPHNE glanced miserably out of the glass telephone booth, saw Ralph waiting with exaggerated patience, hands in his pockets . . . she couldn't leave him to telephone again. . . . "Could I leave a message for him?" she began all over again. "Certainly!" Mrs. Colby bridled, at the other end of the wire. "Then will you please tell him," Daphne said finally, "not to send the car back for me, because I'm not going straight home."

"Tell him what?" "Not to send the man—"

"I thought you said Carl! You'll have to speak more distinctly, Miss Heinz, I don't know what man you want. There isn't any man here. Is someone coming? What's that? I don't hear you."

In the end she had to give up. "I'll just have to be back at the building to tell the chauffeur not to wait, that's all," she decided, but it wasn't so easy to break the news to Ralph.

He ordered a marvelous dinner. A spiced salad, steak and mushrooms, all the things she liked. He smiled at her across the table, admiring her, noticing all the little things she had always wanted him to notice and he never had before.

"Setty hat, Daphne." The old blue hat she had bought to please him last summer. That had been invisible to him before. Her fingers flew to it instinctively. A little pat. "Do you really like it—its old now—"

"Yes, blue is your color, isn't it?" She wished she had a whole blue outfit. But her pleasure was marred by the furtive glances she couldn't help giving to her wrist watch. Five minutes to six. Six minutes past six. Five minutes past six. The waiter brought the steak with a flourish. "Shall I serve, sir?"

Ten minutes past six before he was finished, and gone.

"This is something like!" Ralph grinned. "Sauce, Daphne? Remember the first dinner we had together? At the hash-house down by the ferry?"

Did she remember? Could she ever forget? And she leaned forward, her eyes dark with excitement, shiny with unshed tears. "Of course, I remember, Ralph. . . . and Ralph, I'm afraid I'll have to hurry tonight, because Mr. Greely is sending his car back for me at half-past six, and the chauffeur won't know what to think if I'm not there—"

"So he sends his car for you now?" "Not all the time!" she laughed, and her voice sounded unnatural, even to her own ears. "Just tonight because—"

"Just tonight because—"

"Just tonight because—"

"Just tonight because—"

"Just tonight because—"

"Just tonight because—"

He stared at her coldly, inimically. Like a stranger. "You don't think that Mr. Greely—that Mr. Greely . . . Oh, Ralph!" He continued to watch her, a strange gleam in his eye. "Come," he said. "Don't make a scene. Of course, people talk. What do you expect, with Greely's reputation?"

"You feel differently about it, when you've cooled down. He roars a lot, but he'd do anything for you—"

"Are you going to quit, or aren't you?" She saw he meant it, then, and her temper, violent as it was, rose to meet his. "Quit! Of course I'm not going to quit! You failed—"

"You failed—"

Ostrogoths and Visigoths

The Goths divided themselves into two great groups—the Visigoths (Eastern Goths) and the Ostrogoths (Western Goths). The former lived on the slopes of the Carpathians, in Dacia, and the latter dwelt on the shores of the Black Sea. "Their separation became complete when, after conflicts with Constantine (321), who imposed peace upon them, and with Valens, whom they subdued, the terrible Huns made a successful irruption among them and completely crushed their empire." The Goths were a powerful Teutonic people. They were totally unlike the Romans in many respects. The Visigoths gradually became absorbed in the Latin peoples of Spain and Langue doc. The Ostrogoths finally became absorbed in the Tartar race.

Old Silk Rewoven

It is reported that a process has been perfected in the Imperial Research Institute, Osaka, Japan, whereby discarded silk may be put through a chemical process that changes it to a liquid form, then to a jelly, then to a plastic substance that can be made into threads for weaving.

Convicts' Literary Tastes

As fiction heroes prisoners prefer detectives to any other class of men. A survey of the libraries of San Quentin prison, California, shows that detective and mystery fiction led the list in popularity.

Quaint Old Ceremony

The Bilwirth Rocking, a centuries-old ceremony, is performed by the vicar of Bilwirth in the parish church. Receiving a child from its mother's arms, the vicar dedicates its life to God's service. Then he places the baby in a cradle and rocks it gently several times. This quaint ceremony symbolizes the presentation of the child Jesus in the temple.—London Tit-Bits.

Alaska Outranks Texas

Alaska is more than twice the size of Texas. The area of Alaska is 586,400 square miles and of Texas 262,398 square miles.

Entertainment in Ant Hills

Scientists believe that, in addition to maintaining guests of usefulness in their homes, ants are fond of keeping pets, for tiny crickets often find shelter and abundant food in the home of an ant. Beetles, too, with welcome ants are often fed and sheltered in the hospitable home of the ant.

Death Left to Fate

Many seafaring men never learn to swim because they believe that when they are born fate has already decided when and how they shall die.

Wins in a Walk

Nobody really expected that Miss Edith Quier of Reading, Pa., would hand Miss Maureen Orcutt a trimming in the women's invitation tournament at the Schenecost course in Eastern Point, Conn., but the Reading girl turned the trick where others better known had failed. Maureen, after brilliant golf during her other rounds was off her game, while Miss Quier was steady as a rock.

THEATERS

COMEDY PAIR STAR

Karl Dane and George K. Arthur are at their comedy best in "China Bound," Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer feature now playing at the Met theater.

The film, which Charles F. (Chuck) Reisner directed, is a laugh riot from its opening to its sensational finish and probably will be listed as the best of the five comedies in which Dane and Arthur have co-starred.

"China Bound," furnishes them with a new vehicle for characterization as they go blundering on, first with Dane as a stoker and Arthur as his stowaway pal and later in the Chinese collic disguises.

The story is a splendid comedy and provides many opportunities for the bulky antics of the huge Dane, who in this picture, unlike others, is his partner's pal and not his rival in love. Each has a sweetheart, Polly Moran playing this role for Dane and Josephine Dunn as leading lady for Arthur. They are menaced not only by Angus McAllister, Josephine's screen father, but by Chinese bandits, who provide a battle scene which adds to the interest.

Harry Woods as the hard-boiled officer, and Carl Stockdale as the crabbed, Scotch antique dealer and father of Joan (Josephine Dunn), give an excellent account of themselves.

HISTORICAL BACKGROUND

The dazzling sand dunes which serve as a background for the desert sequences in "Desert Nights," Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's sound synchronized starring vehicle for John Gilbert, at the Cliftona theatre, carries historical prestige, for it was through these wastes that the buckskin clad, "pony express" riders of yesteryear plied their way with the early mails. The water holes and the tropical oiled oasis, seen in the picture, were used as landmarks by these fearless roamers of the sage, when Indians and outlaws of the most fearsome sort ranged about in search of suitable loot. It was through this blinding wasteland that the renowned "Death Valley Scotty" first forged to reach the country which he has partially reclaiming and is utilizing for fertile grainfields.

The cast of this latest Gilbert picture also includes Mary Nolan and Ernest Torrence.

FINAL DAY OF ARK

Tuesday is the final day for the showing at the Grand theatre of "Noah's Ark" starring George O'Brien and Dolores Costello. In addition to this stupendous drama with its love story which is carried through the ages, are Vitaphone and Movietone acts.

Wanted to Seize Cuba

The Ostend manifesto was a dispatch sent in 1854 to the United States government by the American ministers, at the courts of Great Britain France and Spain, who had met in the city of Ostend for conference on the Cuban question. The dispatch stated that if Spain would not sell Cuba, the United States "would be justified under the laws of self-preservation to take the island by force and prevent it being Africanized like Haiti." It advised offering Spain $120,000,000 for the island. This recommendation was not accepted by congress.

Witchcraft Superstition

The Chinese or American Indians never conducted an organized campaign against witchcraft in any way comparable to that carried on in Europe in the middle centuries or in America in the early history of the country, but there is ample proof that the Jews from earliest times placed witchcraft under the ban of the law, and among the earliest laws given by Moses is the one "Thou shalt not suffer a witch to live."

HOUSEKEEPING AIDS ARE HEALTH ASSETS

Anything That Lightens and Makes Easier the Daily Tasks About the Home Will Bring Dividends in Happiness and Health, Says Dr. Copeland.

By ROYAL S. COPELAND, M. D.

United States Senator from New York.

Former Commissioner of Health, New York City.

RECENTLY I had the privilege of addressing a group of housewives. There were several thousand women in my audience and each one was vitally interested in improving her home.

The time and labor saving devices on display were of intense interest to me. To be sure, it is not within the means of every family to have all these things I wish it were. But every woman can have her housework made lighter with just a bit of good management.

Electric washing machines, vacuum cleaners, dish washers, floor polishers, refrigerators, cake mixers, irons, mangles and all the other modern appliances lessen the labors of the overworked housekeeper. I would not have the entire housekeeping regime become a purely automatic performance. But I would have it made as light and easy as possible.

If you cannot afford a large dish washer, there are many small, inexpensive ones which will lessen your labor. One device has a nozzle and extra attachment for cleaning the pots and pans. There are food mixers which can be used for innumerable purposes. There are electric ice cream freezers, as well as small washers, large enough to do the baby's clothes, and many other garments. These are ideal for the housewife who presides over a small apartment.

Floor polishers are made with mop and brush attachments so that their use is legion. In the country, where all the modern comforts are not obtainable, such a machine, if electricity is available, would save many a backache.

The average garbage can is a fly-trap. No matter how clean you try to keep it, it is bound to have odors. Use heavy paper bags, either those waterproof ones which come for the express purpose, or, if this is not possible, save the heavy bags which come from the store. In this way you save yourself the labor of always cleaning the garbage pail, and, in addition, you have a sanitary container.

Sit down and decide today just which time-saving, labor-saving device will help you most. Then consult with your family and let that be the next purchase for the home. It will repay the family many times because it will keep mother young and happy for many extra joyful years.

That a Frenchman in a new country will open a cafe, a German a general store, and a Briton a bank has long been an axiom regarding the men of these races in foreign lands. That regarding the Briton might be amended by stating that along with the bank goes the Church of England. Here in Rio says a correspondent, which is a city of churches, an English church has been the meeting place for the British community for 110 years.

Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Nickerson, who returned Monday from Cleveland were guests on Friday night at a dinner party in Millersport, O. given by Mr. and Mrs. Enos R. Castle. This affair announced the marriage of Miss Eunice Castle and Harold Cromley which had taken place on Saturday, June 29, at Ashland, Ky. Other guests from this vicinity were Mr. and Mrs. Will Cromley and Mr. and Mrs. J. C. McCord of Ashville.

More than 30 were present who were received into the house by the hosts and when all had assembled, were invited to the side lawn where lanterns had been strung over the tables on one of which was a three tiered wedding cake, the first hint of the significance of the occasion. The announcement came soon after, and during the elaborate dinner.

"Flying Bullet" Plane To Defend England In Air

LONDON, July 16.—Great Britain has added to the Royal Air Force what is believed to be the world's perfect fighting airplane. Details concerning this machine, which are revealed by the air ministry for the first time, show that it is virtually a "flying bullet."

Constructed entirely of steel, the machine is a single seater, built for the home defence force. Its main purpose is to bring down invading enemy bombers before they have an opportunity to get over London or other strategic points.

For two years British aeronautical experts have worked on this plane and now they have achieved success in the all essential point—speed.

The machine is able to take off within a minute and climb to a height of nearly four miles in 13½ minutes. At that height it can attain a speed of 185 miles an hour.

It is fitted with a super-charged and specially geared Jaguar motor developing 400 horse power. Electrically heated clothing and oxygen breathing apparatus for the pilot are part of the equipment.

With a full load of machine guns and munitions, the pilot can climb to a height of more than six miles above ground level.

How Napoleon Got Start
Napoleon Bonaparte's father in adversity laid the foundation for the family fortunes when on a visit to Paris he succeeded in getting free admission into the military school of Brienne for his son. The older Bonaparte was a lawyer in Corsica and although he had taken a vigorous part in defending the island against the French, when resistance had become hopeless he found himself not averse to joining their interest. Napoleon was only sixteen when his father died.—Detroit News.

There! We've gone and done it! It must have been a touch of sunstroke, for honestly, we weren't going to mention the Free Coal Campaign in this issue. But you know as the weather gets warmer and the big event draws near, we find ourselves getting all worked up over this wonderful opportunity. It gives us a chance to become, in our humble fashion, benefactors to the community. From the time you file into the theater and take your seat you will unconsciously constitute yourself a juror. You will sit tense and absorbed and weigh each bit of startling testimony. You will instinctively lean forward to get a closer view when a new piece of damaging evidence is introduced.

You will hear the edged and sarcastic voice of the prosecutor—the reluctant, agonized and heart broken voice of the beautiful defendant—the drama and comedy of a sensational courtroom trial, so authentic and realistic in its conception and staging that eminent jurists and lawyers have pronounced "THE TRIAL OF MARY DUGAN" the best picture of its kind.

You will hear the voice of love! Norma Shearer for the first time—a voice which competent critics have declared to be one of the finest on the screen. You will hear H. B. Warner, Lewis Stone, Raymond Hackett and many others in a big cast. "THE TRIAL OF MARY DUGAN" is based on the remarkably successful stage play which appeared in New York, London, Paris and Berlin.

Old Legal Expression

The expression, "hue and cry," is a legal one, the name given to the shouting raised when a criminal is pursued. Under the old law, all who heard the hue and cry were compelled by law to take up the chase. In later usage the name was applied to a proclamation calling for the capture of felons or return of stolen goods. The official gazette of wanted criminals, published in England, is known as the Hue and Cry. In general, it means any loud outcry, especially of alarm or fright.

Every seat will be a front row seat during "THE TRIAL OF MARY DUGAN" at the Cliftona Theatre—Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's latest and most thrilling ALL-TALKING picture.

From the time you file into the theater and take your seat you will unconsciously constitute yourself a juror. You will sit tense and absorbed and weigh each bit of startling testimony. You will instinctively lean forward to get a closer view when a new piece of damaging evidence is introduced.

You will hear the edged and sarcastic voice of the prosecutor—the reluctant, agonized and heart-broken voice of the beautiful defendant—the drama and comedy of a sensational courtroom trial, so authentic and realistic in its conception and staging that eminent jurists and lawyers have pronounced "THE TRIAL OF MARY DUGAN" the best picture of its kind.

You will hear the voice of lovely Norma Shearer for the first time—a voice which competent critics have declared to be one of the finest on the screen. You will hear H. B. Warner, Lewis Stone, Raymond Hackett and many others in a big cast. "THE TRIAL OF MARY DUGAN" is based on the remarkably successful stage play which appeared in New York, London, Paris and Berlin.

See and hear this ALL-TALKING picture when it appears at the Cliftona Theatre, this week, July 17 to 20.

Very truly yours,
HENRY L. MADER,
Manager.
